

THE DEATH PROCESSION

Policemen Carrying Body Off Ship 48 Hours After Eastland Carried

DIVERS IN EASTLAND HAVE NARROW ESCAPES

Charles Gunderson, diver, had narrow escape.

"Rope and air tube fouled in wreckage," he says. "Could neither get air nor signal to be pulled up. Struggled for minute before lines freed selves. Brought up unconscious."

Cap't Donovan, city diver, caught feet in wreckage. Brought to surface exhausted from fight to free self. Hugh Brown, another diver, lowered into mud pocket like quicksand. Took six men to pull him out.

Columbia Yacht club divers recovered 25 bodies. Club also furnished boats for dragging work.

City doctors organize to fight epidemic of typhoid fever expected among survivors who swallowed river water.
